Not the Worst Winter.

Men are accustomed to remark in cold weather:

"This is by all odds the worst Winter we ever had in this State."
It is a good deal like when people say:

"This is the worst show that ever struck the town."

Dan DeQuille, in the Enterprise, publishes a long article to show that we have had several Winters decidedly worse than this one; colder and stormier, with more snow in the Winter and heavier floods in the Spring.

MISS JENNIE FORREST, PROPRIETRESS.

no bar is supplied with the best brands of Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

The rooms are lofty, airy and equal to any in the State.

ALL WORTH.

—Lung Protectors at Thaxter's Drug Store.

—For cold feet, get a Hot Water Bag at Thaxter's.

—The Leap Year party last night attracted a large crowd.

—Hem-stitched Silk Handkerchiefs, twenty-five cents a piece, at Olcovich Bros.

—The Teachers' institute opened with a full attendance at the High School last evening.

—Another storm is coming over the hills, although the signal service do not take much stock in it.

—F. W. Woodward left last night for Los Angeles, where his brother runs a big hotel. He will go into business with him.

—Carson is well represented in the police courts of Virginia City. Two of the boys recently arrested used to live in Carson and one of the girls.

—D. K. Tuttle has been appointed Melter and Refiner of the Philadelphia Mint. It is hinted that Major John Dennis will succeed him here. Hope so.

—Senator Evan Williams is confined to his house in Empire with an abscess in his arm, the result of breaking it some years ago. It is not dangerous, but very painful.

—The case made out for Clara Belle McDonald is very strong. She will be acquitted on the grounds of insanity, brought on by her husband's bad treatment of her. When called to the stand her husband refused to testify against her.

—No sufferer from any scrofulous disease, who will fairly try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, need despair of a cure. The remedy purges the blood of all impurities, destroys the germs of scrofula, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the physical organization.

The Worst Yet.

NASHUA, N. H., January 13.—In the Supreme Court David Moody of the Salvation army at Manchester has been convicted of immoral conduct and sentenced to three years at hard labor in the State Prison.

The prisoner, against whom several young girls appeared as witnesses, is a white haired old man, and has long been prominent as a Salvation army leader. Twenty-four other residents of the place are to be tried on similar charges, the next case to come up being that of one Stokes, who has been connected with the editorial force of the Manchester Union. All are charged with crimes against little children.

Nine of the men indicted are now about to be tried. They are among the best known men in the town and mostly married men. The developments have caused a great sensation. The county Solicitor in his opening speech revealed a terrible state of affairs.

The Hardest of Combinations.

The delicacy of flavor with the efficacy of action has been attained in the famous California liquid of Figs. Its pleasant taste and beneficial effects have rendered it immensely popular. It cleanses the System, cures Costiveness, etc. For sale by George C. Thaxter, agent.

A CURIOUS CASE.

The Killing of Murphy in Aurora.

The case of T. M. Keith, sentenced to imprisonment for life for the killing of Murphy in Aurora two years ago, came up before the Board of Pardons and was refused, the Governor alone voting for the pardon.

The case was one of the most peculiar of Nevada's many homicides. Murphy, the man who was killed, staggered into a house in Aurora on the morning of January 1st, about 4 o'clock, and said he was shot.

His story was incoherent, as he was very drunk. Before dying he said that he met Keith and two other men, and Keith shot him near Cobb's stable. After the shooting he said that he staggered to a watering trough to get a drink, and leaning over the trough lost his false teeth in the water.

At first he was positive that Keith shot him, but just before his death he was not so positive, but said he thought he was the man. He could not identify Keith's companions. It was also shown that early in the evening Keith borrowed a six-shooter and lost it.

In his evidence Keith swore that he knew nothing of the killing, and had no animosity against Murphy. He had borrowed a revolver and gone out to relocate a mining claim, it being the first of the year. His companions swore that he fired the revolver off three times as a signal to a man on a hill some distance away. Several witnesses testified to this. He drank some after he fired the signals, and lost the revolver. The owner of the revolver was positive that it was a 41 caliber Colt. Search was made for Murphy's false teeth, but they were not found. No one heard a shot that night where Murphy said he was shot.

Mr. Bartine appeared in Keith's behalf before the Board, and introduced Maish, the gunsmith, as a witness. Maish swore that the bullet extracted by a surgeon from Murphy's body was never fired from a 41 caliber revolver, as it was too small, also that it was never fired from a Colt's revolver, as a Colt arm has six grooves in the barrel, whereas the bullet in evidence before the Court had seven grooves.

This evidence, however, was not introduced in the Aurora trial. The two men whom Murphy said were with Keith were never produced.

Judge Murphy sentenced the defendant for life. His character had always been good, and the opinion in Aurora is that there is some mysterious link in the evidence which when produced will clear Keith. He was able to prove his whereabouts all that night, except for about three-quarters of an hour.

Death of Miss Nevers.

Every one in Carson was startled and saddened yesterday when it was talked of about the city that Miss Henrietta Nevers was dead. The young lady grew up from childhood in Carson City, and her bright intelligence and sunny character won the hearts of all who knew her. She was finely educated, and nature had endowed her with unusual intellectual gifts. Although she had been sick with lung and throat troubles over two weeks her illness was not considered dangerous, and her death was quite unexpected.

It is sad to see one cut down where youth has just touched its prime, and one also whose bright smile has so long been familiar to everyone. She leaves an aged father and mother, and a younger brother. The funeral will take place on Sunday.

Special Meeting.

There will be a special meeting of the Art and Industrial Association today at the Arlington Parlors, at 2 P. M.

Business of importance to come before the meeting.

By order of

MRS. D. A. BENDER.

President.

MRS. C. N. NOTEWELL.

Secretary.

SAM SMALL'S BROTHER.

Why Did God Make so Much Outdoors? Two Women's Experiences.

"Sam Small, Evangelist!" The proverbial philosophy of "Old Si," the venerable plantation darkey, who gave to the world through the medium of Small's pen maxims of worldly wisdom, clothed in a verbiage of irresistible humor, has found a permanent place in humorous literature.

Great surprise was shown when it was announced that he, having been converted under the ministrations of "Sam Jones," would become an evangelist.

At first thought, a humorist in the pulpit seems incongruous. Is it really so?

No doubt the mere buffoon attempting to turn men's hearts to solemn truths would meet with only contempt. But truth is not hidden in gloom. Genuine humor frequently illustrates and fastens in the mind bits of wisdom that would otherwise pass unheeded.

In his eulogy of Henry Ward Beecher, Rev. Dr. Parker says: "Whenever he came among men, he brought June sunshine and music, and made even desponding and surly men feel that a fuller and warmer summer, 'the Kingdom of Heaven,' itself was 'at hand.'" That is genial Christianity.

Mr. Small belongs to a witty family. He has a brother connected with Army Knox's and "Fat Contributor's Texas Siftings," a paper which has had phenomenal success in the field of humorous literature. Mr. Frank A. Small is the present representative of that popular paper in England, and, like his distinguished brother, he takes a deep interest in the welfare of other people.

Under date of 48 Porten Road, Kensington W. London, Eng., Sept. 27, 1887, he writes "While at Yalding in Kent yesterday, I met Prof. S. Williams, Head Master of the Cleaves Endowed school. In the course of conversation about America, Prof. Williams remarked that Warner's safe cure had been of great benefit to his wife, who had been much troubled with a disordered liver. Warner's safe cure (an American preparation) was all she had taken, and she had experienced none of her old trouble for some months past.

Mrs. Annie Jenness-Miller, editor of New York Dress, and a very popular woman in the fashionable world says in her own magazine for October: "Warner's safe cure is the only medicine I ever take or recommend. In every instance it gives new energy and vitality to all my powers." This distinguished woman also says that for ladies this great remedy is "peculiarly effective."

Sam Small is likely to succeed as a moral teacher. When we remember how near together in human nature lie the fountains of laughter and of tears, the deep effect his discourses must have on the masses can easily be imagined.

"Why did God make so much outdoors?" exclaimed a little girl. We know not. He has made it and we should grow in it, broad charitable and genial, judging everything by merit, not by prejudice.

A NEW DODGE.

The Ingenious Manner in Which a Lawyer Presented His Case.

Before the Board of Pardons at their last session, Judge T. E. Haydon, of Reno, appeared in behalf of several applicants for pardon, and in presenting the claims of his clients for clemency did so in a rather novel way. One of his men was in for burglary for seven years, and the other for house-breaking for ten years. Both went from Washoe county, and Mr. Haydon wished to show the Board that the sentences were unusually severe and having already served the State more than the average punishment imposed by the State courts upon this misguided class of individuals, his clients were entitled to a discharge. To show this he made an abstract of all the sentences imposed for burglary and house-breaking since the year 1866 to the present time, with the number of years each were sentenced, and obtained the following result: Whole number of convictions, 123; aggregate number of years sentenced, 297½; average for each 2½ years. There were 45 house-breakers, sentenced for 105 years, an average of 2½ years each. Of these 45 house-breakers, 18 were sentenced for 50 years, from Washoe county, an average of 3.28 years each; While 27 from other counties were sentenced for 46 years or an average of 1.7 years each. For burglary there was 83 convictions, with an aggregate sentence of 171 years, an average of 2 1-16 years each. Of these two were sentenced to 1½ years, and 2 for 1½ years each, and 19 for 1 year each. Mr. Haydon succeeded in obtaining an unconditional pardon for his clients, and whether the figures obtained had any weight with the Board or not is, of course, not known, but whether so or not, the Judge's labor is not lost, inasmuch as he succeeded in digging up a good paper item.
